

Approve Most Of Tax Cuts

Committee in House Sanctions Slashes on Ones In Excise Brackets

By Francis M. Lenay

WASHINGTON, June 6—(AP)—The House Ways and Means committee reversed itself today and voted to retain the 20 per cent excise tax on light bulbs.

But it went ahead to give final approval to other excise cuts that pushed total proposed reductions to $1,095,000,000 a year. These slashes, only tentatively voted earlier, would apply to telephone, telegraph, travel ticket and property transportation taxes.

The committee also stood by a previous decision rejecting an administration proposal for a 10 per cent levy on television sets that would have yielded $45,000,000 annually.

The action came in the midst of growing doubt that there will be any excise cut at all this year.

This is the dilemma:

1. The committee, when it has finished with the excise cuts, probably will reach a figure around $1,111,000,000. That is almost twice the $655,000,000 limit President Truman proposed. The reductions cover furs, jewelry, luggage, toilet preparations, movie tickets, and scores of other items.

2. Mr. Truman has informed Congress he will veto any bill that cuts the excises and fails to make up the revenue by higher taxes in other directions.

3. The Ways and Means committee is balking at the president's suggestion that $650,000,000 in additional taxes be slapped on corporation income, to help cover the excise losses. Even if the committee approves a corporate boost, there is doubt that it ever will get through the Senate.

4. Time is running out.

Senate Democratic leader Lucas, of Illinois, took notice of the failure by the tax writers thus far to balance off the excise revenue loss and also told newsmen: "There is considerable question whether a bill will be enacted, in view of the lateness of the House in getting a bill to the Senate."

A top House Democrat said "I don't know if we are ever going to get a tax bill, even in the House."

The prospect was dimmed further yesterday as the committee, continuing to ignore veto threats—boosted its proposed excise slashes another $60,000,000 for a grand total of $1,130,000,000. The committee voted to:

Cut the manufacturers' excises on tires, inertubes and automobile accessories by $62,000,000 a year. If the committee has its way the inertube tax would be reduced from 9 cents a pound to 6 1/2; the tire tax from 5 cents a pound to 3 1/2; the accessories tax from 5 per cent to 3 1/2 per cent.

Free electric toasters from the 10 per cent excise on them, for another $4,000,000 loss in revenue.

Put an additional $5,000,000 a year tax on operators of gambling devices, by increasing from $100 to $150 the annual levy on each gaming machine.

Shoe Workers on Fifty Hour Week

HANNIBAL, Mo., June 6—(AP)—The 500 employees of International Shoe Company's Bluff City plant here have been placed on a 50-hour work week because of an increased demand for shoes.

Plant Superintendent R. W. Waters said the 50-hour work week was started May 15. Working hours at the plant were extended from 40 to 45 hours a week earlier in May.

Is Convinced Communism Be a Failure

Defense Secretary Says It Has No Match For U. S.

CHESTER, Pa., June 6—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Johnson said today he is convinced that "the sinister forces of communist imperialism" can be stopped short of war.

Declaring that no one can foretell "with certainty whether we ultimately shall have to meet the challenge . . . in grim battle," Johnson added:

"I certainly hope and pray we will not. And I am firmly convinced we will not if we exploit the military, the economic, political and psychological advantages that are ours."

In a speech for commencement exercises of Pennsylvania Military college at Chester, Pa., the defense chief said communism has nothing to match America in those fields.

"Though it may seem to extend its influence here and there from time to time," Johnson added, "its victories ultimately will prove hollow. In the long run, communism will fail as have all of its forerunners that paraded under other names but had no spiritual quality to support them."

"Man was born to be free, and no slave state can shackle him for long," Johnson said. Johnson urged Americans to continue by their actions to combat communism.

Councilmen Fix 1950 Tax Rate at $1.50

Ordinance Passed Raising Pay of City Clerk $800

The City Council met in regular session Monday night in the City Hall with Mayor Herb Studer, presiding. All eight councilmen were present and the room was well filled with those interested in the council proceedings. None of the appointments submitted by the mayor were approved by the councilmen.

The council approved the 1950 tax rate ordinance setting up $1.50 on the $100 valuation; distributed as follows: City rate, 94 cents; sinking fund, 1/2 cent; sinking fund No. 2 hospital, 1/2 cent; sinking fund airport, 3c; sinking fund, park improvement, 6c; interest, park improvement, 2c; sinking fund, sewers, 30c; interest, sewers, 5c; library, 7c; firemen's pension fund, 2c. Total $1.50.

An ordinance was read by the clerk concerning a traffic red and amber blinker light to be installed at the intersection of Arlington avenue and Twelfth street. The ordinance was passed.

City Clerk Bailey read the Zoning board's recommendation concerning the rezoning of property located on the southwest corner of Twelfth street and Garfield avenue for business. The board recommended that the application be rejected. The council accepted their recommendation.

Pay Raise For Clerk

An ordinance, raising the salary of the city clerk was read and passed by the council, unanimously. The new figure will be $3,900 annually, and is to be paid monthly. The clerk according to the ordinance, will retain the right to keep fees he has had in the past.

Mayor Studer said he felt that such a raise of the clerk's salary is ignoring all practical business reasoning and is not justified. He added that he was certain that the position could be adequately filled by someone else. There was no discussion and the next order of business was entered into.

Report On Sale

Emery Ellsworth chairman of the buildings and grounds committee reported to the council that the 885 acres, more or less of the airport property near Dresden, has been sold at $60.50 per acre and the total amount was $53,542.50. The sale was to J. L. Hieronymus at public auction on Saturday, May 27. Ellsworth moved that this be approved and the same was approved unanimously. Ellsworth told the council that the officials of the Missouri Pacific and Missouri-Kansas-Texas railroads had assured him that the repairs on Engineer avenue between the railroad tracks would be made soon.

After election Mr. Scruton appointed Wade Maupin, of Carrollton, Mo., as cabinet secretary.

The convention ended today with a business meeting.

CITY COUNCIL Sidelights

Mr. Bailey is a Democrat. Mr. Alpert is a Democrat. Mr. Mehl is a Democrat. Mr. Lewis is a Democrat. Mr. Hanigan is a Democrat. Mr. Edwards is a Democrat. Mr. Mitchell is a Republican.

Thus concluded Republican mayor Herb Studer in each instance of his appointment recommendations to Sedalia's Democratic council Monday night.

But Democrats or Republicans, all appointments fared alike—not one of them was approved on roll call vote. However, at this meeting unlike preceding ones when the mayor and council have tangled on his choices, there was a noticeable lack of unanimity among the Democratic councilmen. Some of them voted "yes," but the "Noes" prevailed.

Upon appointment of Guy Bailey to the park board, Councilman Reed arose and asked if there was not to be discussion on this. "You may have all the time you want for discussion, Mr. Reed," the mayor said.

"Last week, Mr. Mayor, you said you would trade one man for two," Mr. Reed remarked. "It seems to us you are just putting up more men for appointment just to make more people mad at us. I make a motion to table all appointments, until we can get together."

"Mr. Reed your motion is out of order," said the mayor.

"I appeal your ruling to the council then," replied Reed.

"Counselor Wesner, is Mr. Reed's motion in order?" asked the mayor.

"It is not in order," replied Mr. Wesner.

"The clerk will call the roll on the appointment of Mr. Bailey," said the mayor.

All councilmen voted "no" except Councilman Sumners who arose and addressed the mayor, saying "Mr. Bailey is a personal friend of mine and I'm going to vote 'yes' as I told the members of council I'd vote yes for him."

Councilman Ellsworth excused his vote against Jack Alpert for the park board on the basis that his name was not brought up in caucus. "That is not a good reason for voting against him," declared the mayor. "How long have you known him?"

"I have known him a long time," Councilman Ellsworth replied. "But I think appointments like this should be brought up in caucus, so I still vote no."

"But," countered the mayor, "Mr. Lashley submitted an ordinance for a salary raise for the clerk without it being brought up in caucus. I knew nothing about that."

On the appointment of Frank Mehl for the park board Councilman Vandekamp voted "Yes," the others "No."

The mayor and Councilman Reed had an exchange of words over the appointment of Glenn Lewis for the hospital board. Mr. Reed called attention to a letter from the present board to the mayor asking that no changes be made since the present board was working fine together. The mayor replied that the letter had expressed "hope that I would give the present board consideration. Some doctors have advised me it would be satisfactory to make a change if I put up good men, and I think I have."

All the councilmen voted "No" on Lewis, commander of American Legion Post No. 16, except Councilman Vandekamp who said: "Mr. Lewis is a good friend of mine. I cannot vote against him."

The mayor commended Mr. Vandekamp for the position he took, as he previously did with Mr. Sumners.

On the appointment of Frank Hanigan to the hospital board, all councilmen voted "No" except Smethers and Vandekamp, who voted "Yes."

All voted "No" against Harry Edwards for weighmaster.

When Robert Mitchell's name was submitted for city hall janitor, the councilmen voted "No."

Defend Selves In Due Time Bradley View

Military Aid Brings Closer a Security Basis

WASHINGTON, June 6—(AP)—Gen. Omar N. Bradley said today the free nations of Europe, if given time and aid, will be able to defend and hold Western Europe from attack.

The chairman of the joint chiefs of staff made the statement to the House Foreign Affairs committee in supporting President Truman's request for $1,222,500,000 to continue foreign arms program for another year.

Bradley said the military aid to Atlantic pact Allies already has brought this nation "one step closer to establishing a reasonable security for ourselves as well as for our friends."

Looking back over the first year of the program, he said "we have confidence in what is being accomplished."

"A year ago, the successful defense of Western Europe, in the face of a coordinated enemy attack, was a remote possibility. The military estimates were discouraging."

"But it now appears possible that these European nations, with the help that the United States has given them, and the strength derived from our collective security planning, will—if given time—be able to defend and hold Western Europe, if our present rate of progress continues."

Not Guess on Might
Bradley would not hazard a guess on the time that might be needed.

Rep. Smith (R-Kas.) asked whether the situation in Europe is "critical" or of an emergency nature.

Bradley replied: "I do not think there is any immediate threat of war but at the same time war might come at any time either by accident or design, although I think the chances are against it."

Beverly Warren In Auto Accident

Miss Beverly Warren, daughter of Mrs. Flossie Warren, of 425 South Park avenue, was one of three girls aged sixteen, injured in the crash of an automobile into a tree on a residential street in Kansas City this morning.

She received severe lacerations and the driver of the car, Miss Elsie Leisor, Parkville, a head injury.

The other girl was Miss Mary Alice Wiedman, of Kansas City.

Miss Leisor's condition was described as critical at the General hospital where they were taken. All are students at the French Institute of Notre Dame de Sign.

Witnesses said the car jumped the curb before hitting the tree.

Mrs. Warren and sister, Mrs. Frank Hugueman, on being apprised of the accident left immediately for Kansas City.

Randolph County Loses in Population

COLUMBIA, Mo., June 6—(AP)—Randolph county and Moberly, its largest city, registered 10-year population losses in census figures announced here today.

Marvin W. Smith, district supervisor of the census, said Randolph county's population is now 22,856, as compared with 24,856 in 1940. Moberly's count dropped from 12,920 to 12,833.

Figures for other towns in the county include, with 1950 totals given first: Cairo (265) 254; Clark (276) 273; Renick (157) 155; Huntsville (1509) 1739; Higbee (672) 877; Clifton Hill (250) 278; Jacksonville (177) 181. Roanoke's population dropped from 75 to 63, of whom 10 live in Randolph county and 53 in Howard county.

Reaction in South Mixed Over Rulings

Some Rejoice; Others Indignant Over Court Order

By Mercer Bailey

Atlanta, June 6—(AP)—Consternation, elation and outright defiance were the southland's mixed reactions today to the U. S. Supreme Court's latest ruling against segregation.

Many leading southerners termed the decisions "far reaching," and withheld comment until they can determine just what the effect will be.

The Supreme Court yesterday ruled:

1. That a Negro law student must be admitted to the all-white University of Texas. It held the separate facilities offered Negroes are not equal.

2. That Negro graduate students at the University of Oklahoma must not be made to sit apart from white students in classrooms.

3. That railroads must not segregate white and Negro passengers in dining cars.

Some Terse Comment
None of the decisions bans segregation, as such, in general; each ruling dealt with a specific case.

Reaction depended on where the spokesman stood. For instance, Georgia's Gov. Herman Talmadge, who took up his father's mantle of white supremacy, was indignant.

"As long as I am governor, Negroes will not be admitted to white schools," he declared.

The managing editor of a Negro newspaper, the Atlanta World, was jubilant. Editor W. A. Fowles said the court's edicts "certainly will be a means by which the south will join in the parade of democracy."

Dr. T. S. Painter, president of the University of Texas, said the Negro, Herman Marion Sweatt, will be admitted "if that is the order of the U. S. Supreme Court as interpreted by Attorney General Price Daniel." Daniel did not say what his interpretation would be.

Dr. George L. Cross, president of the University of Oklahoma, said the ruling affecting his school "apparently knocks out all segregation in graduate schools at Oklahoma university." But he added he doesn't think it will mean a great influx of Negro students next fall.

South Carolina's Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, candidate for president in 1948 on a States Rights ticket, said in a statement:

"These decisions are the fruits of the campaign President Truman and his cohorts have been waging against the south for many months. x x x it is apparent that they are a part of the effort to destroy states' rights in this country."

Rescue came almost exactly a year after a transport plane went into the Atlantic on the takeoff from San Juan, Puerto Rico, to Miami, killing 53 persons. The date was June 7, 1949.

Survivors were plucked from the sea today less than 10 hours after the stricken aircraft's pilot messaged "it looks like I'm going into the drink."

Radioed Engine Out
The time was then 10:06 p. m. (EST). Veteran pilot Joseph Halsey of Seattle, Wash., radioed one engine was out and he was flying at 200 feet and losing altitude rapidly.

He said he was trying to reach Nassau in the Bahamas.

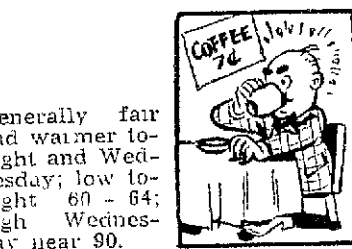

After that nothing more was heard from the plane.

Opportunity for Job Over His Honesty
KANSAS CITY, June 6—(AP)—Honesty will pay off for an unemployed track laborer if he puts in an appearance.

The man, James P. Ashurst, of no fixed address, found a billboard containing $72 and turned it over to police. Then he left. The billboard contained the address of Irvin McCoskie, Inkster, Mich.

Herbert M. Woolf, president of a department store, learned of Ashurst's honesty. Woolf called the police and offered Ashurst a job if he can be found and wants to work.

Metals in Advances And More on Jobs in May

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK, June 6—(AP)—Metal prices on the march again today with rising employment, sparing installment buying, record output in a few lines, lagging sales in others—and a nervous stock market.

Taken together they appear to back up the contention of those who think the long-range business prospect is evenly divided right now between inflation and deflation, with caution still the best policy.

Together they also show why opinion is divided as to whether the traditional summer slump will be as deep this year as usual.

Auto and steel men say "no," many others say "yes"; more say "maybe."

Metals are the prize exhibit for those who contend that inflation is making a come-back. Here is what has happened recently:

Steel scrap hit a record high in Pittsburgh yesterday, selling at $46 a ton, more than double the price just a year ago. Steel men have been shovelling record amounts of scrap into their furnaces to turn out the greatest tonnage of steel in history. Scrap dealers have advanced their prices $15 a ton in three months. Basic steel prices have not advanced since December, but premium

Trustees Elected For Missouri Valley College
MARSHALL, Mo., June 6—(AP)—Commencement exercises for 107 seniors Sunday climaxed a weekend of activity at Missouri Valley College.
The college board of trustees met and re-elected Dr. H. Roe Bartle as president of the board. Bartle is president of the college. W. Lee Marshall of New York, chairman of the board of the Continental Baking Company, was named chairman of the board, a new post created this year.
Elected vice presidents were Charles L. Bacon, Marshall attorney; A. M. Keller, head of the firm of Paul Brown and Co., St. Louis and Kenneth McFarland, superintendent of schools at Topeka, Kas. Three new trustees elected were Earl T. Scott and David T. Beals, both of Kansas City and George Lantz of St. Louis.
Valley's alumni held their annual meeting too, and elected Joe E. Thompson of Slater, Mo., as president. Miss Elsa Baldus, Marshall, is the new vice president; Wylie Steen, Marshall, secretary and Raymond Hayob, Marshall, treasurer.

Ownership To Expand For General Motors
NEW YORK, June 6 — (AP) — Directors of General Motors Corp. today proposed that ownership of the company be split into more than 88,000,000 shares.
At present ownership is represented by a little more than 44,000,000 shares. Directors recommended that each shareholder be given two shares for the one now owned.
The change would give General Motors the largest number of shares outstanding of any company in existence.
Approval for the change—called a stock split—is required from stockholders. Normally in such a matter they follow the recommendation of the directors. No date was set for a stockholders' meeting to vote on the proposal.

HONORING INDIANA—This is a copy of the new 3-cent Indiana Territory Sesquicentennial commemorative stamp which will be placed on first day sale at Vincennes on July 4. Central design is a portrait of William H. Harrison, first governor, and the first Capitol.

The stock of General Motors Corp., largest car makers in the world, sold at a 21-year high in the Stock Exchange last week. Today profit taking sales cut the price to $88.50 a share, a loss of $1.87 on the day.
A stock split for various reasons: To lower the price per share, for instance, or to achieve wider ownership.

Extradition Ordered In Gambling Charge

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 6—(P)—Gov. Forrest Smith Monday ordered extradition of Gus (Skinny) Gargotta and Homer (Robert) Cooper to Kansas for trial on charges of operating a gambling place.

Gus Gargotta is a brother of Charles (the enforcer) Gargotta, who was slain gangland style April 5 with Charles Binaggio. Binaggio was a north side Kansas City Democratic leader and a supporter of the Missouri governor in the 1948 elections.

Smith's action ordering return of the two men to Kansas for trial came in less than an hour after the brief legal battle between attorneys for Missouri and Kansas, and the defendants. The hearing was short and did not bring out whether the two accused men were in Kansas at the time the gambling place allegedly was in operation.

Louis F. Wagner of Kansas City represented Cooper. Frank Benanti, former Jackson county

Hopeful Discovery About Hardening of Arteries is an Accidental By-Product Of Atomic Research

PRACTICAL ASPECT of arteriosclerosis research centers around this ultra-centrifuge. It may help to discover hardening of the arteries before and symptoms develop.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — As the result of an accidental discovery about the nature of hardening of the arteries, the U. S. Public Health Service is planning a major new assault on the dread disease Arteriosclerosis the worst killer of them all, accounts for one-third of all deaths in the U. S.

The amazing discovery is a by-product of atomic research. In studying the effects of atomic radiation on blood, it was found that all "hardened" arteries and veins were lined with deposits of a fatty substance called cholesterol.

The substance has the effect of corroding the vessel walls, making them narrower and thus forcing the heart to strain at pumping blood through them.

But it has not yet been determined that a diet high in cholesterol foods, such as dairy products, necessarily causes the disease. Some persons with much cholesterol in their blood show no indication of being bothered by hardening of the arteries, while others with little cholesterol suffer from the disease.

An Atomic Energy Commission spokesman, however, admits that controlling the diet by limiting the intake of dairy products and other high-cholesterol foods is part of the research. He reports: "There is some evidence to indicate that an over-loaded cholesterol diet is a factor. In a preliminary study of a group of 20 patients restricted to a low cholesterol diet, the researchers were able to eliminate an 'abnormal' cholesterol molecule from their blood serums."

Specifically, what the new discovery has done is to isolate a

Cheese Cloth Over Tree to Save Cherries

KANSAS CITY, June 6 — (P)—Harry Gambrel thinks he has beaten the robins to the draw on that big cherry tree on his yard.

Each year the birds have gotten to the fruit before Gambrel, who is presiding judge of the county court. Bells, trinkets, rags, etc. did not scare away the birds. So Gambrel bought a lot of cheese cloth. His wife worked for three days sewing the pieces together. Then with the help of relatives he covered the 25-foot tree with a Mother Hubbard creation.

The tree looks as if a paratrooper had landed and left his parachute, but the robins are being kept away.

liability of this test. If it is found to be worth widespread use there is also a problem that the ultra-centrifuge costs about $15,000 to buy and $5,000 a year to maintain. And manned by a highly-trained crew working around the clock, the machine can only test about 30 specimens a day.

Dr. John W. Gofman, with a team of able researchers at the University of California, has been in charge of the work that has been done. Part of it has been financed by AEC and part by USPHS.

Other facts about the disease he has helped turn up are that hardening of the arteries is not necessarily a trouble of old age—and that males are far more susceptible to it than females. The proposed big expansion of this whole new line of research will place related projects in various laboratories and universities around the country. Most experts on heart trouble agree that this program is probably one of the most important that has been opened up in many years.

The monk said the rustlers are also kidnapping for ransom the more wealthy among the farmers. He stated the village was "terrified beyond words."

Stumbles in Dance

Charles E. Stacy (above) of Munden, Kas., lost his chance for a perfect scholarship record at the University of Kansas when he stumbled over a course in social dancing and received a grade of "B." A Phi Beta Kappa Stanley will be graduated with a record of 123 1/2 hours straight "A" credit and one hour of "B" credit. He said he enrolled in the "1-hour breather" course to polish up his dancing, but that he probably absented himself from the class too often. (Associated Press Photo)

President to Watch Battle Maneuvers

WASHINGTON, June 6 — (P)—President Truman will visit the Quantico marine base in Virginia June 15 to watch a series of battle maneuvers.

In announcing this Monday the White House said Mr. Truman will make the trip on the Presidential yacht Williamsburg.

He will see amphibious landing operations, a simulated attack on a fortified position and a demonstration of an assault as well as an assault by troops carried by nine helicopters.

Suggestion By Summers
Elmer Summers read three petitions from residents in the northeast part of city requesting sewer laterals to be constructed there. Councilman Summers suggested that a citizens committee be appointed to work with the council and the mayor in carrying out this project. The petitions were filed.

Policeman Appointed

John Vandekamp, in his report on the police department, told the council that the department was handicapped because they were short one man. Vandekamp submitted the name of George Brown, 1709 East Fifth street. Mayor Studer said he would appoint Brown, who then was unanimously approved by a roll call vote of the council.

Mayor Studer submitted the name of Guy Bailey for a position on the park board. He was rejected with all voting no, except Councilman Summers. Jack Albert was also suggested by the mayor as a prospective member of the park board and all of the councilmen voted no.

Frank Mehl's name was submitted next by the mayor and he was turned down by all councilmen except Vandekamp, who voted yes.

Appointments Rejected

The name of Glenn Lewis was submitted by Mayor Studer for a position as a member of the hospital board. All the councilmen voted in the negative with the exception of Vandekamp. There was considerable discussion on this appointment from Councilman Reed. Mayor Studer's second choice on the hospital board was Frank Hanigan Sneathers and Vandekamp voted yes and the rest voted no.

Harvey W. Edwards was suggested as an appointment for weighmaster and he was turned down unanimously by the council. The name of Robert Mitchell was submitted for janitor at the city hall and he was turned down in the vote with the exception of Councilmen Ellsworth and Vandekamp, who voted "Yes."

Mayor Speaks Up

Following Mayor Studer's submitted list of names, he commented on the fact that he felt he had done his best in selecting qualified men for the various vacancies. A general discussion on various appointments was held and several other departments, such as the police department were brought out, and discussed at length. Clerk Bailey read a letter of resignation submitted by City Counselor, Fred Wesner. Ellsworth moved to accept the resignation and the council approved. Ellsworth, said he wanted to thank Mr. Wesner, on behalf of the council for his unbrink efforts and said he wanted to express the council's sincere appreciation for Mr. Wesner's cooperation with the council and the mayor, during his term as city counselor.

City's Bills Approved

A list of the city's bills was read by the clerk and was approved by the council. Coupons of the paid interest of Hospital No. 2 and the Armory drill building were burned by Councilmen Ellsworth and Summers.

Councilman Reed read a complaint from several residents of South Park and South Stewart avenues concerning obstructions in an alley back of Horace Mann school, where construction work is now in progress. It was referred to the street and alley committee and residents were assured the matter would receive prompt attention.

The following licenses were renewed: to the Jockey Club, Jack Morris and J. F. Austin, liquor and beer, at 2209 South Limit avenue; to Main Street Drug store for package liquor; to Kueck's for five per cent beer; to Bill Davis, restaurant at 117 East Main street, for 3.2 beer. A transfer of liquor license was granted to the Interlude.

Metals in Advances And More on Jobs in May

prices are paid for many finished steel products.

Copper scrap has been hard to find lately, too. A leading custom smelter, which buys this scrap to make refined copper, is offering a cent and a half more a pound for it—and charging two cents a pound more for the resulting refined copper.

That puts this custom, or secondary, copper at 22½ cents a pound, within one cent of the postwar high, and six and a half cents above the postwar low, just a year ago. Most producers of primary copper, fresh from the ore, are waiting to see what to do about another price hike. Their order books are filled right now, anyway.

Jump Taken By Zinc

Zinc prices have jumped 10 times since the middle of March, a total increase of four and a half cents. It now costs 14½ cents. And zinc concentrates have advanced $7.50 a ton to $91.

Nickel went up eight cents a pound last week. Aluminum went up a half cent a pound last month. Magnesium advanced one cent a pound yesterday to 21½. It was its first price change since 1943.

What has sent all these metals climbing back up the price ladder? Principally all the new cars and all the new homes. Metals are used in construction, and more metal goes into all the gadgets that furnish the new homes. The auto industry, one of the biggest buyers of metal, is running at record high speed now. These three industries—construction, autos and appliances—keep the steel mills and the copper smelters busy.

They also help to brighten the employment picture. Looking backward, as government statisticians always do, the Census Bureau reports that last month the jobless totalled 3,016,000. This was 273,000 fewer out of work than in May of last year.

At the same time, a growing labor force and a booming durable goods market combined to send the total of the employed to 59,731,000, or 1,037,000 more than were working in May, 1949.

As farm jobs open up this summer, the total of employment is expected to equal the record set in 1948.

Against this background of rising prices and employment, three things are silhouetted: The contrary opinion of some stock traders, the warning of some business leaders that the boom isn't firmly based; and an all-time high in buying on the cuff.

High Price Paid For GM Stock

NEW YORK, June 6.—(AP)—A block of 25,000 shares of General Motors Corp. common stock sold at $91 a share at the opening of the market today, the highest price paid since 1929.

The new price was an increase of $2.50 a share. Heavy demand for the stock followed announcement late yesterday the GM directors had proposed to split the stock on the basis of two shares for each one held.

If the plan goes through—which is likely—GM will have more than 88,000,000 shares outstanding, largest figure for any corporation in existence. The split, voted by the board of directors yesterday, will boost the shares outstanding from the present 44,104,344 to 88,208,688. The action must be approved by stockholders at a special meeting to be called later this year, but ratification is regarded as a certainty.

The boost in number of shares will put General Motors far in front of E. I. duPont de Nemours, now in first place with 45,031,324 shares.

The reason for the split was not announced by the directors.

Four-sided Fight Looms on Will

LOS ANGELES, June 6.—(AP)—A four-sided court battle looms over the will of radio-television millionaire Thomas S. Lee.

Lee's foster sisters, Mrs. Christine Lee Rieber of Metuchen, N. J., and Mrs. Lee Fry, Los Angeles, filed suit yesterday for shares in the $10,000,000 estate left by Lee, who committed suicide last January.

They contend they were legally adopted in 1920 by the late Don Lee, founder of the automobile and radio fortune, and that it was his intention for them to share equally in the estate with his son, Thomas. In a handwritten will, Thomas left the entire estate to an uncle, R. D. Merrill, Seattle, Wash., lumberman.

The fourth claimant is Thomas Lee's aunt, Mrs. Nora S. Patee of San Marino, Calif., named his guardian after he was declared mentally incompetent in 1948.

Ralph William Corson, son of Mrs. L. C. Corson, 1207 East Eleventh street, was graduated on Sunday evening from the University of Kansas City, in Kansas City. The commencement exercises were held at 5:00 o'clock.

New Labor Committee Chairman Barden Will Push Aid-to-Education

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON.—Slow-spoken Congressman Graham Barden of North Carolina, new chairman of the House Labor and Education committee, will wait for the right moment and then push his federal-aid-to-education bill—without aid to parochial schools.

Barden, a former schoolteacher, is a strong believer in aid-to-schools, but incurred the wrath of Cardinal Spellman last year when he took a strong stand for continued separation of church and state.

Since then, the late Congressman Lesinski of Michigan was able to bottle the education bill inside the Labor and Education committee. But with Lesinski's death, however, Barden probably will be able to report the bill out in the form he wants it. But whether he will be able to get it through the House is doubtful.

Meanwhile, here are some of the school conditions existing in parts of the nation:

In a San Antonio skid row suburb, 3,500 children are crowded into two school buildings. Three thousand others do not go to school at all, or attend part-time classes. . . . Some schools in northern Virginia are so overcrowded, students are taught in two and three "shifts" per day. . . . More than 400,000 children in Oklahoma are schooled in inadequate or unsanitary buildings, including firetraps. At Midwest City, Okla., about 550 children are being taught in a frame firetrap less than 100 yards from an Air Force jet plane runway. If a plane crashed, it is not pleasant to imagine what would happen to children in a building with no outside doors.

Two Connecticut Friends

Secretary of State Acheson and able Senator Brien McMahon, both from the state of Connecticut, have a peculiar relationship. Neither is too fond of the other, yet McMahon has been one of Acheson's staunchest defenders.

Acheson, who has a peculiar faculty for saying the wrong thing to Senators at the wrong time, was standing in the receiving line of a diplomatic reception, when the Connecticut Senator and his beautiful wife Rosemary approached. As he shook hands, the Secretary of State remarked to his wife:

"Alice, here is an ogre whom I would like to knock over the head, accompanied by the most beautiful woman in Washington."

Acheson smiled when he said it. Nevertheless, the remark was not particularly appreciated. The personal friction between Acheson and McMahon probably dates back to the days when Acheson's father, the Episcopalian bishop of Connecticut, refused to perform the marriage ceremony for McMahon's close friend and law associate, Homer Cummings, first attorney general under Roosevelt. Cummings had been divorced, and Bishop Acheson refused to sanction his second marriage.

More recently, observers have detected a note of resentment around the State Department at the manner in which McMahon has taken the initiative away from Acheson by expounding some A-1 ideas on breaking through the iron curtain. Despite personalities, however, McMahon has continued to be one of the best friends of the State Department on Capitol Hill.

NOTE—McMahon is torn between two advisers—New York Times correspondent Arthur Krock, who arranged for his historic Truman interview while dining with McMahon; and columnist Marquis Childs. When the Senator from Connecticut goes liberal, Childs is not adverse to claiming credit for it.

Taft's Friend

It never leaked out during Senator Taft's battle against reorganizing the National Labor Relations Board, but NLRB counsel, Robert Denham, whom Taft defended, has gone to extreme lengths to show his bitterness toward labor.

Believe it or not, but he has actually refused to sign cases in the Court of Appeals where unions complain against employers—except in one instance.

But in every case that a company is the complainant against a union in the Court of Appeals, Denham signs the NLRB brief.

For years it has been customary for government attorneys to sign all briefs before the Court of Appeals, even when they do not personally agree with the case. They sign because they are public officials anxious to get a ruling from the court.

Denham, however, has made it a consistent practice to sign a brief in the Court of Appeals only when the case is against union. The one exception to this was the Boeing aircraft case which sought an injunction under the Taft-Hartley act, whereby he was required to sign.

No wonder the labor unions are anxious to oust Taft's friend.

Missouri Politics

Insiders believe that President Truman's intervention in Missouri politics to pick the next U.S. Senator is going to boomerang as did his intervention in Kansas City against Congressman Roger Slaughter.

Out of the clear political blue, Truman announced at a press conference some time ago that State Senator Emory Allison "would make a wonderful member of the U.S. Senate" and that he knew Allison very well.

Since then it has developed that Truman couldn't have known Allison very well, because his handpicked candidate has been against most of the things Truman stood for. As a Missouri Senator, Allison opposed equal education for Negroes, favored throwing road construction back into politics, tried to steal the governorship from Forrest Donnell, now Senator; and favored heavy interest rates on small loans.

As a result of Truman's reaching into Missouri politics, more and more support is developing for young ex-Congressman Tom Hennings of St. Louis.

NOTE—Insiders say that it was Jim Pendergast, not Truman, who actually picked Allison for the Senate.

Merry-Go-Round

For the first time in history, labor will soon be represented on the Interstate Commerce Commission. Ray McKeough of Chicago, former CIO executive and member of the now re-organized Maritime Commission, will be transferred to the ICC. . . . Senators are slowpokes in reading the much-sought State Department loyalty files. Of the 81 files, Tydings of Maryland and McMahon of Connecticut have read about thirty, Green of Rhode Island, twenty; Lodge of Massachusetts, twelve; and Hickenlooper of Iowa, who was loudest for the files, has read only four.

Parental Supervision Needed To Stamp Out Teen-Age Crime

By Bruce Blossat

From coast to coast the kids are running wild. It's high sport for youngsters to beat up innocent people, to shoot and even kill each other in well-generated gang wars, to fill city streets with terror and violence.

In his series called "Teens on the Rampage," Richard Kleiner of NEA has performed a useful, timely service by spelling out the mechanics of these gang activities and setting down the chief remedies proposed by law enforcement officials.

From the remedies offered, certain definite ideas emerge. Youngsters need companionship and organized, disciplined group activity in healthful surroundings. Delinquency can spring up when any of the elements basic to normal growth is missing.

That crowded city slums are breeders of crime is accepted by the experts. Dirty tenements and endless stretches of cheerless pavement don't encourage the rounded life for urban youth.

But you can't put all the blame on the slums. Many a poor lad has licked his bad environment and gone on to success in his chosen field. Plenty of youngsters grow to adulthood in a mean setting without running amok.

Modern city family life frequently is much at fault. Good parental discipline is no longer a common commodity. Parents may be pre-occupied with grubbing a living, or perhaps merely with enjoying themselves. Whatever the reason, they're indifferent to their children's normal needs.

Some psychologists see the city family set-up as wholly artificial from the youngster's standpoint. Living too often in cramped apartment quarters, the parents put the damper on a child's natural impulses toward noisy play, adventure, excitement.

Movies and radio, welcomed by parents as outlets for youthful enthusiasm, unfortunately tend to warp those impulses into unhealthy channels. Most experts agree that movie-radio emphasis on crime is doing grave damage to impressionable minds.

Better housing, real play space, green grass are obviously desirable substitutes for dismal slums. Where slum clearance is a remote goal, churches, schools and school yards, community centers and fraternal halls should be made available to kids for a wide range of organized activities.

The parents have a double responsibility in this problem. They must face up to their basic task of disciplining their children wisely and continuously. Outside activities need the touch of parental supervision.

But perhaps even more important, parents have got to make a real place for their children in the crowded city home of today. Shooting them off to the movies or onto the streets is shirking their duty. At sacrifice to themselves, mothers and fathers have got to find as many home outlets as possible for their youngsters' normal urges. Home is not much of a child's world right now; it ought to be a better one.

Couches in the Dugout?

The St. Louis Browns hired a psychologist to help boost the team's morale and unkink its mental twists. After a little more than a month, he's given up. He left with the Browns deep in the American League cellar.

Could this be a forerunner of a trend that might some day spread from tail-enders to league leaders? Is the time coming when every team will have its own psychiatric couch? When the club psychiatrist will rival the field manager in importance?

If so, we can imagine some heated jurisdictional wrangles when an ace batter goes into a downward spiral. To the manager, a little rest on the bench seems a proper prescription. But to the good doctor, a batting slump can't be that simple. He delves into the batter's past for the hidden secret behind the reversal.

You can see the sports headline easily: "Stanford Breaks Slump; Reveals Father Broke Open His Piggy-Bank When Outfielder Was Boy of Ten."

INSINCERITIES—DUALISMS IN OURSELVES?

We must continue fretting out these insincerities, for they are like lice that must be exterminated to the last one. We who preach the Gospel—why do we do it? For self-display? For purposes of dominating others—their minds and souls, if not their bodies? Do we wait for the approving word at the close of the sermon, rather than the approval of God in the quiet? Do those who pay the piper really call our tunes? Do we proclaim truth that is palatable to others, with an eye to our own palates and stomachs? Are we afraid to offend a rich contributor, but not afraid to offend our own moral nature?

A Negro preacher was preaching a trial sermon, and at the close one of the members came up and said, "Pastor, it was a wonderful sermon, but we is wondering whether you walks as you talks." Blessed is the man who does, for then his talk and his walk are with power; otherwise they cancel each other. A pastor said to the writer, "I'm like a train caller, calling out stations down the line to which I myself do not go." Some recognize this dualism in themselves: "I am opinionated and I call it conviction," said an honest soul. Another put his dualism this way: "I didn't sin, because I was so proud that I didn't want to have to apologize afterward." One sin, pride, kept him from other sins!

I was talking to a leading general of a certain country. He was bitter and critical of other Christians. I suspected that under the bitterness lay the motive of masking his own decaying spiritual life, so I stopped his outpouring with the words of Jesus to Peter when he inquired, "Lord, and what shall this man do?" "What is that to thee? follow thou me." No matter what the other man does, that doesn't excuse you—"follow me." The general went on worse than before. Again I stopped him with the same quotation. Then he pounded his knee and said, "Good, you've got me."

That last sentence of the general was honest and opened the door to his eventual release from insincerities.

O Christ, Thou, relentless Lover and Redeemer, corner my soul. Don't let me wriggle and apologize and slip past. Thy redemption! Help me to take my medicine, however bitter to the taste of self it may be. For I would be whole, with no part sick. In Thy name. Amen.

Husband Can be Different in Public—If You'll Let Him

Any wife who has ever wondered why her husband, who may be rather a dull fellow at home, can shine so when he gets out in a crowd can find the answer in a discussion of family life made by Andre Maurois in his book, "The Art of Living."

"One can be one's self in the family circle. Yes, but it is not possible to be anyone else in that intimate atmosphere one cannot rise above one's self. . . . The members of a family may not understate a genius in their midst, but they minimize him by their manner of appreciating, which is not understanding, but delighting in the fact that there is such a man in the family."

That is the way it is and must be within the family circle. But some women carry that understanding of their husbands beyond the family circle, and then it is hard on a man's ego.

Mrs. Jones can't let Mr. Jones tell a story without inching into the limelight, adding little touches, contradicting a statement or explaining that John had taken a few liberties with the facts in order to make a more amusing story.

Dulls Husband's Price in Success

Mrs. Smith does her underating in another way. She isn't content to let Mr. Smith shine as the success he has become. She must always be reminding his audience of how it was along the way, when she was pinching pennies and still having a hard time to make ends meet. Mr. Smith can't shine in all his present splendor, even away from home, because his wife keeps bringing up the past.

Mrs. Brown "tells all" and so keeps Mr. Brown from ever "rising above himself." She shares with anyone who wants to listen to all of the Mr. Brown's peculiarities, the way he is such a baby when he is sick with nothing worse than a cold, and so forth. Mr. Brown hasn't any chance at all to "rise above himself" when Mrs. Brown is along.

Letting a husband "rise above himself" when he is with others is one of the surest ways of helping him to feel pleased with himself—and glad to have his wife around.

Just saying "Lofty Gordon's name under her breath made the sweat break out all over Gloria's face. Her legs felt like water, no longer able to hold her up. Reuben was tall enough to be called "Lofty," and seemed to know plenty about her. Benoni, Lofty once had been a member of the gang.

There was safety now only in lights and people. Her teeth chattered as she looked about desperately. She saw above her a great hatted window with a red neon sign. "Ella Mae's Beauty Shoppe" it read. She slid into the shadow of the doorway, her breath coming in great gasps. Would Lofty follow?

"It's 9 o'clock, Miss," the girl in the soiled white uniform standing behind the door said as Gloria shut inside like something hauled out of a gun. "We close in 20 minutes. We can't do nothing for you tonight, dearie."

She yawned, revealing two gold teeth and the fact she was chewing gum. Gloria's eyes were frantically ransacking the place for the back door. She slid her shaking hand into her bag extricated a $5 bill and dropped it onto the scratched wooden counter.

"Not even a quick shampoo?" Gloria murmured. "Of course, I expect to pay extra this time of night." No more was necessary. Ella Mae's hand swept out and the bill was no longer there.

"Last booth" she said, resignedly. How long did she have? Maybe she could slip out the back door while Ella Mae was getting the shampoo. Gloria planned. Her hands were jerking and she peeped on the extreme edge of the big leather chair with the stuffing leaking out the bottom, longing to make a dash for the door behind the curtain but not daring because Ella Mae was standing nearby, filling a bottle with nauseous-looking gray liquid.

As she came back, Gloria could only settle back into the big chair, with her precious pie box and the handbag containing the gun piled in her lap.

"Relax, dearie," Ella Mae urged, puzzled. "Don't you want to put your bundles down? What you got in them anyway, the Clown Jools?"

"Sure. An emerald necklace," Gloria told her, grinning slyly.

"Killer-Diller, ain't you?" Ella Mae smeared gray goo all over Gloria's rigid head and the water ran down into the shampoo basin like something choking to death. The things women suffer to be beautiful! Was that the outside door opening?

"Relax," Ella Mae urged again. "How'm I gonna—" "There's someone outside!" Gloria gasped. She froze to the chair, her head still dripping water and goo as Ella Mae went out to see who it was, drawing the curtain decorously.

"Good evening." It was Lofty, all right. Gloria grabbed a towel, mopped madly at her hair, and gripping her precious bundles, tiptoed with agonizing slowness behind her own curtain toward the back door, as he asked Ella Mae, "A girl in a dark-blue slack suit come in here, Sister?"

"What's it to you?" Ella Mae asked sullenly. Thank goodness for the $5 bill! If Ella Mae could just hold him a few seconds more, Gloria had her hand on the door—knob when she heard Ella Mae rasp.

"He pulled a knife on her!" Gloria knew wildly. "Luke Sal!" She ought to stay, help the poor kid but . . .

How Gloria actually got through the door, out into the alley, she never could remember later, but all at once she was running crazily down the dark alley, crying, bumping into things, mingled tears and goo running into her panting mouth. The alley was too full of overflowing garbage pails.

She slid thankfully into a dark, tangled, maze. This must be the door—anyway, she have to chance it. When she tried the knob it moved inward under her shaking fingers, and she slid inside just as Ella Mae's scream echoed down the dark alley and there was the sound of foot steps running.

"Help her get away," Gloria prayed and leaned weakly back against the closed door, shaking there in the darkness, letting the awful pounding of her heart die down, wishing she could have helped Ella Mae and knowing she couldn't. Lofty would just have killed both women before Gloria could get the gun out of her bag.

Mother Talks To Ocean Hopping Son

LITTLE ROCK, June 6—(AP)—A Hot Springs, Ark., mother knows that her radio-operator son is going back overseas—thanks to a Little Rock amateur radio operator.

Bill Taylor, Fort Smith, Ark., is the radio man on a converted B-17, owned by the Assembly of God church, Springfield, Mo., which has been in Africa on missionary work for the church.

En route from Africa to Tulsa, Okla., Taylor began putting out signals on an amateur radio frequency as the plane approached Hot Springs yesterday. Dr. George Bean, Little Rock, answered Taylor's call.

Informed that the airborne "ham" wanted his mother to know he was back in this country, Dr. Bean telephoned Mrs. Letha Taylor in Hot Springs and put mother and son in direct contact by phone and radio. Contact was made in time for Mrs. Taylor to step outside and watch her son's plane fly over Hot Springs.

During the conversation, the son informed his mother the plane is going abroad again soon, this time to Palestine.

CITY COUNCIL Sidelights

tor, Councilman Sumners asked: "Is he a Democrat, too?" Replied the mayor, "No, he is the only Republican." This provoked the only laughter of the evening. On roll call Ellsworth and Vandekamp voted "Yes," the rest "No."

That Mayor Studer was displeased with the attitude of the councilmen over his appointments was attested by the following caustic statement he delivered to them:

"Again tonight I have submitted the names of some fine outstanding civic minded citizens of Sedalia for appointments and again you have refused to confirm their appointments. In previous meetings, I have made other appointments of men equally as civic minded. They have been men who have not sought to be appointed to these various capacities, but in every case, they have been men who can contribute a great deal to the civic life of Sedalia. It is very apparent to me and I think it is becoming more and more apparent to the people of Sedalia that your refusal of confirmation is based wholly upon petty, personal reasons and it is becoming more and more apparent that your actions are being dictated to you by some person or persons who have not the slightest interest in the well-being of this city and are not interested in a constructive and cooperative city government."

"In all instances the men I have attempted to appoint are outstanding members of both political parties. I have said repeatedly, and I say again, that petty, personal grievances or politics should have no place in city government."

"I propose to continue to offer to you the names of fine, outstanding citizens until such a time as you are willing to forget petty, selfish and personal motives and assist me in the appointment of city employees of ability and character."

Regarding passage of the ordinance to raise the salary of the city clerk to $3,900 per year the mayor had this to say:

"Tonight you have passed an ordinance raising the salary of the City Clerk approximately $800.00 per year. An increase of this type to one individual is not in keeping with sound business administration inasmuch as we could secure a competent person to perform these duties efficiently and at the same salary this position is paying at the present time. I have been in favor of a reasonable increase; one which would not have had such a bearing on the city's financial budget. In my opinion this large increase to one individual is not justified and it appears to be an effort to favor the services of political friends for past favors."

A June bug crawling across the floor caught the dozing eyes of a front row spectator of distinct Democratic leanings. With startling suddenness he came awake thinking it was one of those rabbits the mayor was supposed to pull out of his hat.

About the same time the mayor did pull a rabbit out of his portfolio by repudiating any future "private caucus meetings" with council. Said the mayor:

"During the past two (2) months I have had caucus meetings with you gentlemen hoping that we might get together in order to put into force a constructive program for the benefit and improvement of our city. It is needless to say that these meetings have been entirely useless. In view of the fact that nothing I have proposed has met with your approval, I have come to the decision that we will no longer have private, secret caucus meetings, but will put all of our discussions in open council where the citizens of this community are invited to participate. They in turn will know the things which are or are not being done for our city."

Councilman Sumners spoke up: "Now, Mr. Mayor, we asked for only one man on the park board. And we're going along with the doctors on the hospital board."

The mayor then offered an observation that attendance had not been too regular at park board meetings of which the council was aware. Further the park is in need of improvements and he wanted men he had confidence in on the board.

Councilman Reed spoke up:

"The mayor called attention to the fact that out of 100 appointments he was willing to take five. 'And if that isn't fair I want to know it and so do the people. I want men down at the city hall who will work for the city. We have got to have help and I intend to go out for it.'"

In an aside on tradeoff appointments mentioned by Reed, the Mayor said: "You give me Miller and Berry and I'll give you the rest." (Miller is Attorney George Miller, spoken of for city counselor. Berry is former City Judge Harry O. Berry, whom the mayor appointed for city license inspector, but whom the council recently rejected.)

The Democrats were not without their own statements. As proceedings neared conclusion, Councilman Lashley arose and said:

"Mr. Mayor, we have now accepted Mr. Wesner's resignation as city counselor, and we request you to submit a name for appointment as city counselor either at this time or by the next regular meeting night; otherwise the council will select a suitable person to fill the position, on its own motion in accordance with Section 622 of the Revised Ordinances of the City of Sedalia, Missouri, 1912."

Mayor Studer: "At the next meeting I will submit an appointment."

Councilman Sumners: "Glad to hear that, Mr. Mayor."

Following is the manner in which Mayor Studer submitted his appointments:

"The Chair proposes the name of Mr. Guy Bailey, superintendent of the Missouri Pacific shops, as a Park Board Commissioner. I am making this appointment because the members of the council wanted me to consider a man who lives in the Third Ward. He is a man of high character and will make Sedalia an excellent board member. Mr. Bailey is a Democrat."

"The Chair proposes the name of Mr. Jack Alpert, manager of the Sedalia Cubs baseball team, as a Park Board Commissioner. Mr. Alpert is one of Sedalia's most athletic-minded men. He participated in all types of athletics during the time he attended our grade and high school. A man of this type would be a big benefit to our park system, as he has a good understanding and knowledge of the improvements I am trying to make. For the information of the councilmen, he is also a Democrat."

"The Chair proposes the name of Mr. Frank Mehl as a Park Board Commissioner. Mr. Mehl is vitally interested in our young people and has expressed to me his interest in our park system. The council has an opportunity at this time to consider this man who could be a big benefit not only to public parks, but to the people of Sedalia as well. Mr. Mehl is a Democrat."

"The Chair proposes the name of Mr. Glenn Lewis, commander of Post No. 16 American Legion, as a member of the Bothwell hospital board. Mr. Lewis is a business man and a tax-payer and possesses the necessary qualifications to capably fill this position. He has expressed to me his desire to serve in any capacity he could, to better serve his community. Mr. Lewis is also a Democrat."

"The Chair proposes the name of Mr. Frank Hanigan, employed at Missouri Pacific shops, as a member of the Bothwell hospital board. He is well qualified to serve in this capacity. He is interested in serving in any way that he may be of benefit to the city. Mr. Hanigan also is a Democrat."

"The Chair proposes the name of Harvey W. Edwards as weighmaster. Mr. Edwards is capable and qualified to fill this position. He is a resident of Sedalia and a tax-payer and he too is a Democrat."

"The Chair proposes the name of Mr. Robert Mitchell as janitor at the City Hall. Mr. Mitchell is very capable and well qualified for this job."

McCarthy in More Figures For Senate

WASHINGTON, June 6—(AP)—Senator McCarthy told the Senate today an FBI chart lists as Communist agents at least three persons "still holding high positions in the State Department."

McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, said the document was prepared by the FBI three years ago.

As of May 15, 1947, he declared, "there were in the State Department a total of 124 agents, Communists, sympathizers, and suspects, in the opinion of the FBI."

McCarthy said a photographic copy of the document he produced in the Senate "is based upon State Department files."

McCarthy did not say just who prepared the document, but that paper said:

"The FBI has prepared a chart, now in the possession of (name blanked out), which purports to show a number of 'agents,' 'Communists,' 'sympathizers,' and 'suspects' in the State Department as of May 15, 1947. The tabulation shows:

"Agents 20

No Further Delay in Women's Golf Tourney

DALLAS, June 6—(AP)—Regardless of the weather, the Women's Trans-Mississippi golf tournament opens today.

Soaking rains yesterday brought postponement for 24 hours but there'll be no further delay.

The 5,878-yard, par 75 Lakewood country club course was closed to practice rounds yesterday while workmen pushed condition of the soggy layout for qualifying rounds today.

A field of 196 headed by defending champion Betsy Rawls of Dallas will move through the 18-hole test from which the championship flight of 32 will be selected. Match play opens tomorrow.

KANSAS CITY, June 6—(AP)—A big field of 159 starts bidding today for berths in the match play half of the Missouri Amateur golf tournament.

Heavyweight Fight in London Today

LONDON, June 6—(AP)—An ex-bar room bouncer tangles with a plain country lad tonight for what this side of the ocean will call the world's heavyweight boxing championship.

The combatants are Lee Savold, a 34-year-old tough guy from Englewood, N.J., and Bruce Woodcock, a 29-year-old railwayman from Doncaster, England.

Savold scaled 192 pounds, Woodcock 190 1/2.

At the weigh-in ceremonies, it was announced the fight probably would not begin until 2:30 p.m. (CST). It had been scheduled for 2 p.m. (CST).

The weather continued warm and sunny, but the forecast said thundershowers were possible this evening.

Marshall Team Lost More Than Ball Game

The Marshall American Legion team which took a 22-3 defeat from the Sedalia Legion team lost more than a game and their pride as their first league game in Sedalia this year. They also lost collectively among the team $25.00 which was alleged stolen from their lockers in the shower rooms.

The lockers in the park shower rooms are without locks and someone had rifled the visitors' clothes and stolen around $25.00 altogether from them, it was learned.

The home team's clothes had been searched but no loss could be found.

Some of the members of the American Legion who are interested in their boy's team and welfare were quoted in saying in effect: "It is a terrible state of affairs when a visiting team can not come to town without having their belongings stolen. They also added that either some of their members should see the park board about taking care of some of the lockers and getting locks for them or that maybe the Legion Police might be put on guard at the games.

Athletes Object to Sport Communization

BERLIN, June 6—(AP)—Two football teams and two rowing clubs turned up in West Berlin today as the latest refugees from Russian-occupied East Germany.

One of the football teams came all the way from Dresden in southern Saxony. The 12 men also brought their wives with them. The players said they objected to the communization of sport in the Soviet zone which forced their private club to accept sponsorship from a nationalized industry.

Under this system private clubs must wear the colors of a "people's owned" enterprise or face dissolution.

The oarsmen had the same complaint.

Texas Team Took Top Honors in ABC Bowling

COLUMBUS, O., June 6—(AP)—The Straus-Frank team of San Antonio, Tex., rolled a 2795 series to take last night's honors in that division of the American Bowling Congress tournament.

There were no changes yesterday among the top 10 leaders of the various divisions.

The "hardluck" bowler yesterday was Julius Opperman of Pontiac, Ill., who shot 624 in doubles, 633 in singles and then fell to 478 in the team bowling for 1735 in all-events.

Smithton Hornets Lose to Eldon

The Smithton Hornets met the Eldon ball club at Eldon Sunday afternoon and were defeated by the score of 11 to 6.

Donald Donath was on the mound for Smithton and pitched a good game, and due to errors by his teammates, he lost the game.

Leading hitters for Smithton were Fairfax and Demand. Bidle was on the mound for Eldon, giving up 15 hits. Five of the Eldon players received two hits apiece.

The Sedalia Moose Lodge 1494 baseball team and Smithton will meet tonight.

Five Berths Filled In Baseball Meet

NEW YORK, June 6—(AP)—Five of the eight berths in the National Collegiate A.A. baseball tournament were filled today and the southwest prepared to make it six.

Here are the representatives already decided for the tournament June 15-22 at Omaha Neb:

District one (New England)—Tufts college, chosen yesterday over Trinity and Holy Cross.

District two (Atlantic Seaboard)—Rutgers.

District five (Missouri Valley)—Bradley.

District seven (Rocky Mountain)—Colorado A. and M., defeated Colorado State in a playoff yesterday, 9-5.

District eight (Pacific Coast)—Washington State.

The series to select the southwest, or district six, champion, was scheduled to open in Austin, Tex., today between the universities of Texas and Arizona. Rain forced postponement of the game yesterday.

The south will stage a double-elimination tournament over the week-end at Kannapolis, N.C., with four teams involved. They are Wake Forest, Clemson, Alabama and Kentucky.

Four teams also will scrap it out for the midwest nod at East Lansing, Mich.—Wisconsin, Western Michigan, Ohio University and Michigan State.

Over 150 Players to Meet In Intercollegiate Golf

CHICAGO, June 6—(AP)—More than 150 players from 33 schools will compete in the national intercollegiate golf championships at the University of New Mexico June 23-July 1.

Ted Payseur, Northwestern athletic director and tourney chairman, said 150 players had registered prior to the deadline yesterday. Twenty-seven schools are sending full five-man teams.

Defending team champion, North Texas State college, will be back with a strong squad. Defending individual titlist, Harvey Ward of North Carolina, and medalist Arnold Palmer of Wake Forest also are entered.

Legion Game Here Tonight

The Sedalia Junior Legion baseball club will meet the Warsaw Junior Legion boys, under the lights at Liberty park, tonight at 8:00 o'clock.

The local boys have had a long winning streak and have defeated the Warsaw club three times in earlier encounters this season.

The Warsaw team has strengthened all its positions now and has a line of powerful hitters.

Warsaw high school basketball star, Jerry Lumpe, is reported to be a very strong slugger and a fast, peppy shortstop. The game tonight should be interesting in the fact that both teams have sparring men in the shortstop positions and should provide plenty of infield action for the fans.

The Warsaw aggregation may be the one to snap the Sedalians' winning streak. The Warsaw club is managed by Coach Hyatt of the high school at Warsaw.

The starting lineup for Sedalia will include: Bob Shawver, ss; Bill Dey II; Bill Morgan 3b; Floyd Burton 1b; Bob Bailett lf; Don Broadus cf; Don Percival 2b; John Cochran catcher and either Jack Barnes or "Skip" Schulz on the mound.

Migratory travels of individual birds are traced by banding them with a numbered aluminum ring, placed on the leg. Many thousands of birds are banded thus each year under the supervision of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.
